NEXT PRODUCTION

Starting on Monday, 23rd September, we are presenting "THE RAINMAKER" by N. Richard Nash, for one week. This is probably the most completely satisfying play of all the recent London releases.

"THE RAINMAKER" takes us to the Curry's farm in Western America, where father and sons are worried on the one hand by the drought that is threatening their livelihood, and on the other by daughter Lizzie's inability to find a husband. Into this household bursts a boastful yet likeable fraud, 'Bill Starbuck', who claims that he can make rain come to the parched land. He is hired to do this, and by way of good measure he sets about solving Lizzie's problems too.

The whole play is written with a skilfull and delicate blend of humour, sentiment and common-sense, and the characterisation is effected in subtle yet telling strokes.

The cast will include: Julie Deller as "Lizzie", Peter Walter, Martin Bradley, Rodney Gedye-a newcomer-Johnson Bayly, and we welcome back Clive Goodwin and Patrick Parnell. The production will be by Peter Walter.
